

AchieveAbility is a not for profit organisation with a social purpose, delivering success and potential for learning differences. www.achieveability.org.uk

AchieveAbility is now offering a series of workshops for staff in schools and colleges to support inclusive education for dyslexia.

The workshops are participative and can cover or include several of the following components:

- Raising awareness of learning differences
- Supporting the adult dyslexic learner: study skills
- Use of discursive feedback and assessment to increase learner motivation
- Utilising metacognitive strategies to enhance learning activity and understanding of own learning
- Equality and diversity in teaching and learning practice

The workshops can be tailored to meet institutional requirement. The workshops can be offered flexibly on a day or half day basis.

We plan and deliver accessible inclusive education and training within London and the wider community in collaboration with other like minded organisations. AchieveAbility has worked with schools, colleges, the university sector, the Higher Education Academy and voluntary organisations.

AchieveAbility experts have a track record of delivering short courses and training sessions. Please see our website for a listing of Board members and experts. www.achieveability.org.uk

Outcomes

- Adding value to professional CPD log
- Enhancing learner attainment and retention in the classroom
- Development of institutional enrichment activities
- Supporting knowledge transfer
- Supporting pupil premium planning

Contact:

For further details about AchieveAbility and this provision please contact: Katherine Hewlett:

achieveabilityn@gmail.com;
Telephone: 07922 190357

AchieveAbility works in collaboration with the West London Access Network, Aimhigher London South Network and Network for Languages London and SuperReading courses

