

AchieveAbility is a not for profit organisation with a social purpose, delivering success and potential for learning differences. www.achieveability.org.uk

AchieveAbility is now offering a series of workshops for staff in schools and colleges to help reshape tutorial and enrichment packages for effective provision.

The components include:

SMT coaching interview to identify the essential elements of a holistic curriculum

Exploring new college models and ways to use available resources to achieve personalisation

Developing a holistic ILP as an interactive tool to promote the learning dialogue

Raising career and HE aspirations by increasing learner autonomy and motivation

One to one tutorial delivery to include focused coaching techniques, the role of the tutor, motivational interview models and effective target setting

Modules also available on diversity, peer-mentoring, cultural identity and citizenship

The consultancy and training can be tailored to meet institutional requirement. The workshops are offered flexibly as a day of half day workshops.

Vivien Guy is a Personalised Learning expert for 'AchieveAbility'. She has considerable experience as a senior FE manager with strategic responsibility for leadership on tutorial, enrichment activities and differentiated teaching and learning.

Her work has consistently received recognition from OFSTED for 'good practice'. Her embedding of peer-mentoring has appeared as a case study on the OFSTED good practice web site.

Aims:

- Personalises learning and provides a holistic framework of support.
- Raises learner aspiration and shapes preparation for HE
- Meets the individual needs and interests of the learners
- Fulfils the Common Inspection Framework requirements
- Meets the government drive to ensure learners are equipped to meet employer demand
